TUESDAY : : : NOVEMBER 25.

It is not yet settled at the Navy Department whether the winter maneuvers of the North Pacific fleet will take place here or on the coast of Southern California. Both localities are being considered. Undoubtedly California will work hard for the prize as the presence of the fleet would lend eclat to the social season all along shore from the Palace Hotel and Del Monte to the Arlington and great Coronado hostelry. Hawaii cannot pull very hard against this influence represented by the California delegation and will have to trust in the main to the logic of geography. Assuming that the Government will want to detach some vessels of the Asiatic squadron to augment the practice fleet, it will be easier, cheaper and otherwise best to have the rendezvous here than at a point 2100 miles further away from the Asiatic base. It may also occur to the Navy Department that more work can be got out of the fleet away from the social coast of Southern California than will be possible in a place of so many attractions and such manifold pulls.

Much is appearing in the papers about the school of Lost Mysteries carried on near San Diego by one of the warring theosophists, Mrs. Tingley. The school, with its religious and hotel annexes, was organized some years ago and its conduct has been as mysterious as its doctrine. Mrs. Tingley, who calls herself "the Purple Mother of Loma Land," has gathered about her a throng of enthusiasts who are said to dress in queer Hindoo costumes and to prostrate themselves when in the presence of the "mother." One of these devotees is an ex-mayor of San Diego. Many children have been brought to the school, some of them from Cuba, and it is in defense of these that United States laws have been appealed to. Late dispatches say that the San Diego Chamber of Commerce has come to the defense of Mrs. Tingley, a course which is quite explicable, owing to the fact that the Tingley enterprise has brought many people and much money to the southern seaport.

The interruption in the telephone and electric light services due to storms which overturn trees cannot, perhaps, be avoided save at a cost greater than the companies owning the wires can bear. But it seems a pity that some cheap way of running all wires underground cannot be brought into general use and acceptance here. Poles are unsightly things, wires are easily dislocated and some bring fatal danger with them when they fall.

The news of an eruption of volcanic cones on Savaii, the largest of the Samoan islands, was rather startling to those who regarded Savaii as being in the same category as Oahu in the matter of lava outbursts. The cyclopaedias say, however, that native tradition relates an eruption on Savaii and in 1866 Oloesenga, one of the eastern group, had a submarine explosion close to its shores, accompanied by a shower of ashes.

If fugitive Treasurer Wright took the short cut to Mexico, via San Diego, he could easily have made his way to Central or South America. Ensenada, the capital of Baja California, is but one night's steaming from San Diego. Through steamers from San Francisco to the Mexican mainland and Central America stop at Ensenada and the passage from there to any point south is a matter of regular schedule.

The announcement that Mr. Hanna will retire from politics is not a surprise. He is in poor health and the death of President McKinley deprived him of much of the interest in party affairs he had previously shown. His retirement comes about naturally, and will be widely regretted. No man has been more misunderstood than Mr. Hanna and few have deserved better of their party.

The national Democracy seems bent upon entering the next presidential fight with a quarrel. Between the Bryan and Hill forces there is much bad blood and the old Cleveland following stands off in contemptuous dislike of both factions. There seems to be no common ground of harmony. The Republicans, on the other hand, present a solid front.

Honolulu ought to have a United States life saving station. Storms are not frequent here but when they come they put vessels, especially small fishing craft, in great peril. It is to be presumed that Hawaii's representative in Congress would have no trouble in getting a crew of life savers assigned to this port.

Japanese fishermen venture an hundred miles from their home shores in sampans and are not likely to be scared by an offing of fifteen or twenty miles here. The lone Jap who was blown out from Honolulu during the big gale turned up yesterday as if nothing had happened and brought in a load of fish to show how well he had spent his time.

CHINESE IMMIGRATION.

This from the Argonaut: "There have been continual attempts in Hawaii, on the part of the planters, to get the administration to permit the importation of Chinese coolies. If coolie importation is resumed in Hawaii it will be impossible to keep the Hawaiian stream of coolies out of California. Once here, they may go all over the mainland."

We do not see why. There are thousands of Chinese in Hawaii now and they are kept from the mainland easily enough. To double or quadruple their number could not menace the safeguards which the law has raised against Chinese immigration.

It would still be practicable at San Francisco and elsewhere on the Coast to enforce the exclusion law, a measure which has proved entirely operative against China, with its 400,000,000 inhabitants and could hardly break down under pressure of from 25,000 to 30,000 coolies here.

Lectures on hygiene in the tenement districts of New York may do something to check the alarming progress of tuberculosis, but until a way is found to keep the population there warm in winter and cool in summer and to supply it with good food, consumption will continue to make its ravages. Where people suffer from poor lodgings and bad provender, they fall easy victims of disease, no matter how many lectures they may have heard on modern sanitation.

Kings and Presidents are becoming an extra hazardous risk, as insurance men say. Within the past five years assaults upon rulers or premiers have taken place in Spain, Italy, France, Switzerland—where the Empress of Austria was assassinated—the United States and in South America. Vague reports are also current of plots against the crown in Turkey and Russia. With the attack on King Leopold Belgium is added to the depressing list.

Kilauea's fires have a way of dwindling down and flaring up again. Just now there is a period of quiescence, but any day may see the lava rise again. In the present case some of the pressure may have been taken off by the unexpected eruption in Samoa.

INTER-ISLAND POLO GAMES

Hawaii, Pink and Green—No. 1, Ted Guard; No. 2, R. Kennedy; No. 3, C. N. Prouty (Capt.); No. 4, Dr. A. Irvine. Oahu, Red and White—No. 1, A. F. Judd; No. 2, R. W. Shingle; No. 3, W. F. Dillingham (Capt.); No. 4, C. S. Dole; substitute, Geo. C. Potter. The second game will commence at 3:30 o'clock. This will bring together the fast and veteran Maui team and the new Kauai team, the men being fresh at the game, but fast riders. It is said that neither of these teams excels in placing the ball, but they are very hard riders once they get under way, and it is safe to say that on a breakaway if Frank Baldwin gets the ball he will drive it the length of the field with not more than two strikes. The men will play as follows:

Maui, Canary and Black—No. 1, H. A. Baldwin; No. 2, George Wilbur; No. 3, F. F. Baldwin; No. 4, L. von Tempsky (Capt.); substitute, W. O. Aiken. Kauai, Red and White—No. 1, S. Mellina; No. 2, A. H. Rice; No. 3, P. Mellina; No. 4, C. A. Rice (Capt.); substitute, P. L. Rice.

The ball is put in play at the center of the field and the scores are made by sending it between the posts of the enemy's goal. Each goal counts one. The men spread out, the points of the play being for the No. 1 of each team to ride off, or keep out of the play, the No. 4 of the opposing team and so on, the No. 2 being the man who is expected to carry the ball on long drives and No. 3 to be the sure hitter to catch it on side plays and score the goals. This makes No. 4 really the goal protector of his team.

There has been provided a cup for the winners. The patrons of the tournament are:

The Bankruptcy Court is Busy.

A petition was filed in the United States court yesterday morning for the dismissal of the bankruptcy proceedings brought against Jim Ah Hoy of Wailuku, Maui. Hyman Bros., Davies & Co., and Hoffschlaeger & Co., who asked that Ah Hoy be declared an involuntary bankrupt, now ask that the suit be dismissed, the alleged bankrupt having offered to make settlement by the payment to Marshal Hendry of the sum of $717.14, which covers the claims of the petitioners.

B. L. Jones, of Hilo, has answered the petition brought against him, admitting that he is insolvent and that he is willing to turn over all his property for the benefit of his creditors. Jones further says that he would have come to Honolulu to attend court, but that he did not have sufficient money to pay his passage and other expenses.

DALNY IS NOT POPULAR NOW

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 3.—Details of Finance Minister Witte's journey to the Far East are beginning to arrive here by post. A letter dated October 12th describes his stay at Vladivostok. The principal matters laid before him there were petitions for a free port for ships at Vladivostok, for exemption of all Chinese goods from customs duties, for commercial and naval schools at Vladivostok, for freedom of commerce in transit from customs inspection at Vladivostok and for various minor reforms in the customs inspections in the interests of passenger traffic. It is generally realized here that the abolition of the free port at Vladivostok has dealt a most severe blow at the city's prosperity; nor are voices wanting in the criticism of the scheme of the Minister of Finance in the modern and costly new city of Dalny. The Dalny Vostok of Port Arthur not only throws doubt upon the necessity for fountains and gas in a city which so far has no inhabitants, but pronounces the choice of the site for the new city most unfortunate. Dalny has no natural harbor lying on the open sea where the water is shallow. The artificial harbor had to be connected with the sea by a canal two miles long, which it is dangerous to approach in even moderately windy weather on account of rocks and sand on both sides. Up to February $6,500,000 had been spent at Dalny of which only one-half was for the harbor. Work on the harbor had to be stopped half way because the appropriation had been exceeded. Large sums having been expended for the beautification of the site. The splendid looking brick and stone houses, however, are believed to be exceedingly inconvenient and cold, the architects having as is usual with Russian architects subordinated the interior arrangements for comfort and convenience wholly to supposed exterior beauty.

The Dalny Vostok declares that Inkou, on the river Liao, should have been selected as the principal shipping port of Manchuria. The Chinese transit trade having taken this route for ages. Ice breakers can easily keep this harbor ice free. Dalny is no longer an ice free port since the moles of the artificial harbor cause an accumulation of ice floes that were formerly swept away by the wind. It is feared that official favor will never be able to make Dalny a genuine competitor of Inkou, which is over 150 miles nearer the Manchurian market.

The report of the Minister of the Interior on the famine relief of 1901 is considered an important document. M. Von Plehwe admits that the Central Government did not distinguish itself in this work, which it withdrew from the hands of the Zemstovoes in 1900, many local officials taking action only after the need was very great. The Minister recommends a partial return to the old system, declaring that no form of relief is comparable to public works and only the Zemstovoes can take such work.

M. Plehwe also admits "the famine of 1901 not only had extremely unfavorable results for the afflicted districts but testified to the general deterioration of the condition of the peasants."

FOOD NOT ALL

Food is not all the thin man needs. Maybe he's sick. You can't make him eat by bringing him food. But Scott's Emulsion can make him eat. That Emulsion gives a man appetite and feeds him both. It brings back lost flesh.

No trouble about digestion. The weakest stomach can digest Scott's Emulsion. It tastes good, too. Scott's Emulsion paves the way for other food. When wasted and weakened by long illness it gives strength and appetite that ordinary food cannot give. Not only food—medicine, too—Scott's Emulsion of pure cod-liver oil.

We'll send you a little to try if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl street, New York.

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism—that acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also.

Sufferers dread to move, especially after sitting or lying long, and their condition is commonly worse in wet weather.

"It has been a long time since we have been without Hood's Sarsaparilla. My father thinks he could not be without it. He has been troubled with rheumatism since he was a boy, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine he can take that will enable him to take his place in the field." Miss Ada Dorr, Sidney, Iowa.
